ASHLEY PARK HOUSE

In the heart of County Tipperary, close to the shores of Lough Derg, sits Ashley Park House. Our goal is to provide the highest level of attention to you and your family and friends during this special time. We assure you that your day will be unique and will provide you with lasting and cherished memories as you start your married life together. We offer you a timeless wedding venue where we create an individual experience that matches your own style.

The History

Ashley Park House was built in 1770 and over the next hundred years the house was extended by the Atkinson-Biggs family as more land was added and the stables and gate lodges extended. The house was bought by the Mounsey's in 1983 and was in a neglected state. It took years of hard work to bring it back to life and our first wedding was in 1995 between Margaret and her globe trotting husband, David. Margaret and PJ continue to look after the house and have restored the gardens, gate lodges and cottages.
